a good TV to an excellent price Review by jder71

The TV is fantastic only thing I can complain is the time zone I can not when selecting Latin America and the three USB ports to wait to be enabled. I recommend it to anyone no matter what the world is excellent regardless of the two details

Awesome first decent TV I have owned Review by MrBill

I just recieved a refurbished unit and it looks near brand new. I dont even think the previous owners turned it on.

Picture Quality became incredible after turning that dimming mode off.

One thing , web site shows only 3 HDMI on back , mine has 4 and 1 more on side.
Is mine a newer revision?

My kids are watching Cars on Blu-Ray , it looks better then cinema

My Lucky ticket Review by Alea_s22

I had been searching for a normal tv that will fit my budget, reviewing over and over found this great tv that has Internet apps, wifi, a keypad under the regular remote, 3d, led which makes the picture look great and at the same time saves you energy...what else can I ask for?.... I have recommended this to almost all my family.... Now... Make sure you get the full hd 3d glasses so you can enjoy the tv ever better... Hope this works... Now I will go because I want to see my amazing tv.

wow Review by wow

wow,

Its wonderful.

I am longing to get this technology for years.

This makes all others look primitive.

And price is simple earth shattering.

This is the future & all TVs r going to be like this in future.

My advice : Go for global launch & Keep prices low ;

AND YOU WILL HAVE MONOPOLY

When can I buy this in India?

Replacement TV Review by jjtmp

Well after a ton of reviews and homework and our main T,V, finally going to the electronic heavens, I came across this spectacular GEM from Vizio, I was originally going with just the 47" LED since I had heard all the so called negative comments about the 3D T.Vs but when I seen this at Costco and knowing Costco's return policy etc. I figured well lets give it a shot! not only am I completely surprise and in awe of this TV I can not believe the bad marks on the 3D's I can not speak for the other Brand 3D T.V's but I can tell you that the Vizio is just way way above anything I have seen. If you are seriously looking for a TV that is priced right and with the Vizio apps do your self a favor and pick one of these tv;s up , The other great thing is the setup this t.v and remote control was so easy to pretty much just point and click as it walked you through the items you were connecting and having everything including my Uverse box working with all the functions as the Uverse remote was incredible! never before have I been able to program an universal remote to work just as the originals do! even the $$ Harmony remotes that say they do it all! no need for anything else with this t.v. remote, VIZIO you are th tops!

Awesome! Review by stump

Best picture I've seen on a set. Good sound for tv speakers. Remote w/ full qwerty keyboard is cool and easy to learn and use. Internet set up a breeze. Only difficulty havent been able to get remote to recognize ps3 so am still using sepetate remote for it. That is the only con.

CLOSEST TO THEATERS YET...MAYBE BETTER... Review by 3d co-conspirator

Ok so my boyfriend was obsessed with narrowing down all specs, accessories, ratios, lighting, quality, picture, and everything else before 3d launch and as soon as it did of course i was the one involved in all the eliminating aspects of the process with him so i started getting into it...And after all the purchasing and returning we have got our complete action pack movie experience in our home.... we purchased the 42" vizio and after a couple of trial an errors on the 3d bluray player we now have the samsung 3d blu ray player with the vizio 3d hdmi 240hz cable and the 2 pairs of vizio active shutter...

Let me just say at first i was like too expensive whats the big difference ect. but now that i have actually experienced a 3d full1080p bluray movie i dont think tv or movies will ever be the same...i have seen my bloody valentine 3d, under the sea3d, and 2-3d conversions-pirahna and alice and wonderland. the real-d 3-d's are better then the conversions by farfar. but anyways i thought i would share my review maybe for the people who doubt what they are thinking of purchasing or to total confirm that this tv should be owned by everyone!

I brought home the set 4 days ago. Setup was as simple of both wireless connection and the other devices. I hooked up a DirecTV DVR, a Sony DVD player and an HTPC via HDMI cables. The internet apps are fantastic and easy to setup and use and the mutli-function universal remote with slideout keyboard is cheap feeling, but brilliant in design and works really well. Sound is great as well.

That's the good, now the bad. My biggest issue is the lack of consistent color and clarity on the screen. I had to play around with settings for several hours to get the color close to the near perfect color. I ended up dragging the cheap Panasonic set next to the Vizio to calibrate it. I also noticed that the screen flickered many times and sound would drop out for a second or two ever 10 mins for no apparent reason.

I asked friends for advice and went out and bought a more expensive, higher speed HDMI cable to connect the DirecTV DVR to the set.

I'm hoping this does the trick. I am really hoping that this Vizio will be as fantastic as it sounded when I bought it and I look forward to updating this review when I've had a chance to use it for a few more days.
